Much Fighting.

SAN FRANCISCO DE MALABON, Oct. 11 .- Gen. Schwan's column, approaching this town, marched through a country so muddy that all the mules collapsed. He occupied the town without fighting, the insurgents retreating under cover of the creek beds. Later, reconnoitering in force southward, Gen. Schwan came upon trenches where hidden insurgents poured several his staff. The rebels resisted stubbornly.

The reconnoiterers, consisting of Capt. Geary's battalion of the Thirteenth Regiment and two guns of Riley's battery, drove the insurgents two miles, fighting all the way. They found a field piece and several wounded and sick Filipinos, flying red flags, and captured twenty-five insurgents, including three officers. Many Filipino dead were strewn along the fields. The American total loss was one officer and seven men wounded.

Gen. Schwan's main column started at daylight, this morning, along a fearful road on the left bank of the river, flankers being thrown far out and Maj. Budd's battalion on the right bank covering the flank, rendering the fire from the insurgent trenches ineffective.

Maj. Budd returned to Santa Cruz before dark. The natives seem to be generally supporters of the insurrection, but few have arms. There was much firing at American soldiers from the native huts. Gen. Schwan spent the night at TWO CABLEGRAMS.

Gen. Otis Reports Schwan's Move ments-Opposed Family Reunions.
(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—A cable gram from Gen. Otis to the War Department, received late this afternoon confirms the press dispatches regarding Gen. Schwan's movement on San Fran-cisco de Malabon. Gen. Otis says:

He reports their forces disintegrated and retiring on divergent roads, which are impassable for artillery or wagons. No intention of occupying this country permanently or temporarily; transport will return by way of Rosario, and column will move in direction of Dasmarinas, probably retiring on Imus. The party was at once escorted to the fair grounds, where Mayor William M. Akin presided and C. A. de Bruler of Evansville welcomed the distinguished guests and veterans to the city. Gov. J. A. Mount followed with an address of welcome on behalf of the State, and introduced President McKinley. The President said:

"My fellow-citizens: It gives me very great pleasure to participate with you, men of the North and men of the South, in this glad reunion of hearts. We are already unified; the peace which Grant and Lee made at Appa-mattox has been kept by law and re-straint, and, we believe, fraternal re-gard. The Union today rests not on force which may follow it, but rests in the hearts of the people; that union can never be severed.

"If I have been permitted in the slightest degree to help in the work of reconciliation and unification, I will esteem it the greatest honor of my life. Our financial condition was never better than now. We have good money and plenty of it circulating as our medium of exchange Banks may fail, fluctuation in price come and go, but the money of the country remains always good; and when you have a dollar of it, you know that dollar is worth one hun-dred cents, because back of it is the

Kruger Says War is a Fitting End to England's Policy. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—The following ablegram was received tonight by the Chicago Tribune from President Kru-ger of the Transvaal. The cablegram was sent in answer to a message from the Tribune requesting a statement of the position of the Transvaal in the present crists. In the cablegram which fellows, small words have been filled in in order to make smoother reading: "PRETORIA, Oct. 11, 1899.—Tribune, Chicago: Through the Tribune we wish to thank our many American friends for sympathy in the present crisis of the republic. Last Monday we give England forty-eight hours' notice within which to give assurance that the dispute would be settled .by ar-bitration or other peaceful means. The notice expires at 5 o'clock today. The British agent is recalled and war is certain. This is the fitting end of the British policy of force and fraud which has marked all South Africa with the blood of Afrikanders. We must now make South Africa free or the white man's grave. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] LONDON, Oct. 11.—[By Atlantic Ca-If the latest reports from South Africa are true, the Boers have not waited for the expiration of the time nit, but have already crossed border, as they would be entitled to border, as they would be entitled to do, both in virtue of the notification contained in the last paragraph of the ultimatum and also of the British acknowledgment, which reached Pretoria so speedily as to justify a belief, amounting almost to certainty, that the war party in Great Britanis in reality delighted that diplomacy has said its last word, and that action can now proceed.

All indications go to show that Great Britain is so unprepared as to be com-pelled to remain on the defensive for some weeks. All the aggressiveness must come from the Boers. It seems highly probable that the tongue of Natal, as far as Newcastle, will be in the hands of the Boers before many hours. From that point, however, in the event of a further advance, they would probably find British forces at Ladysmith and Dundee capable of repelling their attacks.

At Ladysmith the garrison, which has to guard against attack from the Orange Free State, was reinforced to-day by the Gordon Highlanders, and a strong contingent of the Indian a strong contingent of the Indian troops, and the authorities are now confident of their ability to deal out an unpleasant surprise to the Boers in the event of an attempt to rush the position.

situation seems to give the Boers temporary advantage. There is considerable anxiety in the districts of Nry burg and Mafeking, although it boyed that the reinforcements recently dispatched there will be sufficient to protect the rich town of Kimberley.

Dispatches from Cape Town say that the Cabinet will resign, while there are persistent reports in London that Bir Alfred Milner, Governor of Cape Calony has already dismissed William Colony, has already dismissed William P. So far as a declaration of war is concerned, the feeling in London is that the Transvaal government will merely invite the British diplomatic agent, Conyngham Greene, to leave Pretoria on the expiration of the time limit of the ultimatum. Certainly Great Britain will not declare was pendent state. Active hostilities are expected to take the place of a forma

Ultimatum Only Tends to Unite the British Nation.

[A. P. Failing to draw Mr. Chamber lain into a premature disclosure of fresh demands which could be de fresh demands which could be de-nounced as contrary to the convention of 1884, he has ordered his Secretary of State to send an ultimatum for the im-mediate withdrawal of troops and for the suspension of military preparations. The favorite theory among military officers is that Sid Redvers's advance will be through the capital of the Orange Free State, that the Boer army will be ultimately drawn into that quarter, and that the national forces will cut off its retreat. The ultimate plan of campaign is now less important than the earlier stage of hostile operations when the British forces will be outnumbered by the Dutch allies and in danger of meeting with a serious reverse. Kruger, however, with his perverse talent for inertia, seems to have waited too long before striking the first blow.

LORD ROSEBERT'S POSITION. The Boers' Ultimatum is a Declari

LONDON, Oct. 11.—[By Atlantic Ca-ble.] Lord Rosebery, the former Pre-mier and Liberal leader, has finally declared his position relative to the South African question. In a letter un er today's date, he says:
"I have maintained silence because

I am loath to reënter politics. Today however, I can speak without touching politics, for a situation has been created which is beyond party polemics. I think there is much in the last three years of our relations with the government of the Transvaal to criticise, if not condemn, but that is all over for the present.

"It is needless to discuss how we could best have attained our simple and reasonable object of rescuing our fellow-countrymen in the Transvaal from intolerable conditions of subjection and intustice arrangements." tom intolerable conditions of subjection and injustice and of securing equal rights for the white races in South Africa; for an ultimatum has been addressed to Great Britain by the South African republic which is itself a declaration of war.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11 .- R. A. Crost of Rondebush, Cape Colony, a membe f Parliament for that colony, or Parliament for that colony, who left Africa five weeks ago and is on a pléasure tour of the United States, arrived in Chicago today. He said that he had lived in Africa many years, and is thoroughly familiar with the situation there. He was disposed to doubt the truth of the reported ultimatum sent to England by the Transvaal, but he expressed the opinion that war was sure to come, and that it would result in speedy defeat for the Boers. He said:

it would result in speedy defeat for the Boers. He said:
"I do not believe the war will be of long duration, for the double reason that the Transvaal, together with the Free State, cannot put into the field more than 25,000 or 30,000 fighting men, and for the additional reason that their forces are wanting in organization and will not be able to conduct a sustained campaign against such a foe as England. WHITE CLOSES CONSULATE. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] LONDON, Oct. 11 .- Montague White Consul-General for the South African republic here, closed the consulate this afternoon and left for the continent. WHITE'S ENERGETIC LANGUAGE. OCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.

LONDON, Oct. 11 .- Montague White, Consul-General of the South African republic in London, before shaking off the dust of England, said to a repre-

the dust of England, said to a representative of the Associated Press:

"The expected has happened. I only hope the hellishness of this premeditated crushing-out of a hardy republic is now apparent. Let me remind America that the onus of war lies not upon those who fire the first shot, but upon those who compel it to be fired.

"Technically, we have temporarily put ourselves in the attitude of an aggressor, but who would not have done so when he believed the existence of his country was at stake? I think we must look far ahead to see the consequences of this war. Instead of pacification of South Africa, which is the alleged aim of England, we shall have perpetual unrest. Those very people for whom England is now fighting will turn against her in time to come, and urn against her in time to come, and rotest against her rule as bitterly as protest against her rule as bitterly as they are now protesting against ours. "For weeks I had seen England's determination to force a hostile issue, or rather Mr. Chamberlain's. I am sure he is the only member of the Cabinet whose mind was thoroughly made up throughout all the negotiations. What his intentions were is evident from the situation today. Had the franchise been the chief grievance, our five-year proposition would certainly have been accepted. I have reason to believe that England enters upon the warlike course by no means a unit. Opposition to Mr. Chamberlain's policy exists to a greater extent than is generally conceded.
"Our evident desire to conciliate has tervention in the internal affairs of the South African republic, either by South African republic, either by South African republic, either by treaty or by international law.

"Resolved, that this meeting is also of the opinion that the South African republic, although not bound to comment are doing so with a light heart and on general principles, not stopping to count the cost of wad."

Mr. White cited Isandiwhama massacre as an instance of such a change in British opinion. He then said:
"I suppose there can be only one ultimate result of the hostilities. As to the duration of the war, I am not able to guess. It seems to me a matter of the greatest uncertainty. I hear that Great Britain will not begin the wiping-out process until December. In the mean time we shall see what we shall see.

mean time we shall see what we shall see.

"I have received no special instructions or news from the Transvaal during the last forty-eight hours, and I expect none, having long ago received directions as to the course for me to take when matters reached this stage. I shall remain on the continent, and if anything further can be done in the interest of my government. I shall, of course, endeavor to do it, though there seems nothing left but to fight it out to the bitter, unjust end."

Mr. White seemed much distressed over the rupture, and evidently did not entertain the least hope of Boer success. He said the Transvaal agency in Brussels would be continued as the European headquarters of the government.

Mr. White's reference to the Islandle whama massacre is an allusion to the attack made on January 22, 1879, by some 15,000 Zulus upon the British camp at Isandula, or Islandiwhama, about ten miles from Rorke's Drift, on

"President Kruger was within his rights, and I believe stepped outside his duty when he consented to discuss the question of citizenship with any person who should couple it with a threat. The ostensible reasons assigned for Mr. Chamberlain's policy are so inadequate that we are compelled to look for the real reasons elsewhere. Why is it that the peace of the world is endangered on such a flimsy pretense?

Mr. Cockran eulogized President Kruger, who was cheered.

"It has been said." he continued, "that while the President of the United States sympathizes with the Transvaal, yet he loves England too well to remonstrate. If this be so, then he is ready to connive at oppression. But this is not so."

He declared his belief that if England goes to war with the Transvaal, the United States will forcibly advance her claims regarding the Alaskan boundary. These resolutions were adopted:

"Resolved, that this meeting has considered the difficulty which has arisen between Great Britain and the South African republic, and having examined the relation of these two States, as defined by the conventions of 18S1, and 18S4, is of the opinion that Great Britain does not possess any right of intervention in the internal affairs of the South African republic, either by treaty or by international law.

"Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the government of the United States, to the government of Great Britain, and to the government of Great Britain, and to the government of the South African republic."

It had been rumored around the hall that the meeting would break up in a mass of people burning a Union Jack. At the end of the meeting a man in the rear of the hall seized a Union Jack that was hoisted there and tore it to pieces. Then he turned to run and was thrown out of the hall by the LONDON, Oct. 11.—[By Atlantic Cable.] A flood of oratory on the Trans-vaal situation burst out tonight. A. J. Mr. Balfour, address-ing the Unionists of Haddington, said in part:

"There was not then the clear conviction which now exists respecting the true merits of the case which is now to be decided by the arbitramen of force, but the more the public has known of what the government had done, and what it aimed at, the more they have come around to the view that the government, if it erred at all erred on the side of patience. Mr. Asquith, speaking at Dundee, credited the government with a sincere and honest desire to avoid war. It seemed incredible, he said, that the other should strike the first blow in a conflict which could have but one is sue. The handling of the problem by the Boers was such as no civilized country could permit, and the issue caused by the Transvaal's fil-starred dispatch was one of them which Great Britain could not shrink, but was dispatch was one of them which Great Britain could not shrink, but was bound to take up.

LONDON, Oct. 11, 11:15 p. m.—[By the Cape, timed since the expiration of the ultimatum, so it is not yet known whether the first shot has beer

A telegram from Pretoria, timed 7:3 o'clock yesterday evening, says: "Th situation is becoming hourly more critical. Numerous Americans, German imum to 26,000 pounds. Now, the pany is trying to make it appear isituation is becoming nourly more critical. Numerous Americans, Germans, Frenchmen, Swedes, Belgians, Norwegians, Danes, Italians, Dutchmen, Swiss and Cape Afrikanders have gone to the border to fight for the Transvaal, although they are riot burghers, while many British residents also have taken the oath of allegiance. The hope is expressed by many that war will yet be averted."

Nothing since this has been received from Pretoria and doubtless telegraphic communication with the Transvaal is now cut. The absence of news from the Cape since early morning is not due to any interruption of the cable, but to the immense pressure of work, the cables probably being nearly monopolized by British government dispatches which take precedence of all others. Only two cables run to Cape Town from Europe and the one on the eastern coast is very slow, so that practically all the work is thrown on one Atlantic cable, which means that the present exasperating delay will recur repeatedly during the progress the present exasperating delay will re-cur repeatedly during the progress of the war and that the newspaper dis-patches will probably be very meager. Further particulars regarding the Further particulars regarding the correspondence between President Steyn of the Orange Free State and Sir Alfred Milner, governor of Cape Colony and British High Commissioner in South Africa, cabled from Bloemfontein, show that Sir Alfred on October 7 stated that the imperial government was reconsidering the situation in view of the great fact that both the republics were on a war footing and was even then prepared to consider a definite suggestion of the termination of the crisis. In another dispatch he says:

"My object, in all communications since October 2, has been to leave nothing undone to prevent such action on the part of the Transvaal, as is calculated to make the communication of the transvaal, as is calculated.

ing undone to prevent such action on the part of the Transvaal, as is calculated to make a pacific solution finally impossible. I cannot, however, ask the imperial government for a pledge either regarding the disposition of troops in British territory in South Africa or their dispatch from other parts of the empire."

President Steyn replied:

"The reasons for arming the Transvaal were the presence of an allen, hostile population in its midst which was always stirring up hatred and endeavoring, for political or financial reasons, to undermine the independence of the State. The Boers have never taken the offensive, not even after the Jameson raid when the Transvaal was strongly armed and there were few British troops there.

"Regarding the Free State army, it will be remembered that the Free State always lived at peace and in harmony with its neighbors alid has everything to lose and nothing to gain by a rupture. The burghers will certainly not be called out unless the government is thoroughly convinced that the British troops on the borders of both States are a decided menace to the independence of the Transvaal, which the Free State is bound to assist."

COUNTERFEITING CASE. Sensational Testimony in Trial of

Ingham and Newitt. [ASSOCIATED PRESS' NIGHT REPORT.]
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—Today's roceedings in the trial of Ellery P. Ingham and Harvey K. Newitt, respectively former United States District Attorney, and assistant, on the charge of conspiracy and bribery in connection with the Lancaster revenue stamp counterfeiting case, was particstamp counterfeiting case, was particularly interesting. Secryts Service Operative McManus, who swore yesterday that Mr. Newitt had on two occasions given him $500 to protect the counterfeiters, was under Attorney Shield's cross-examination fire, during which the defense was outlined. Shields showed by his cross-questioning that he wanted McManus to admit that he had led Mr. Newitt into a trap, but was not very successful.

he wanted McManus to admit that he had led Mr. Newitt into a trap, but was not very successful.

William M. Jacobs, the proprietor of the Lancaster cigar factory, and the self-confessed originator and leader of the daring and far-reaching counterfeiting plot, was examined by the government. He said in October, 1898, Downey, the deputy internal revenue collector for Lancaster, told him the secret service were watching witness and Kendig in their counterfeiting operations. A few days later witness and Kendig visited ligham, and after inquiring of him if the secret service men could be corrupted, was told by Ingham that he thought that they could be if properly approached, and that most people could be "reached" by money. Cross-examination falled to shake Jacobs's testimony.

Samuel B. Downey, ex-deputy revenue collector, confessed on the stand to accepting money from Jacobs for furnishing him with the information that the service agents were watching him.

Boston Whitewashes the Phillies Races at Morris Park, Detroit Cincinnati-Summaries from Oakland.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] NEW YORK, Oct. 11.-The outlool race between the Shamrock and the Columbia tomorrow is none of the best. Even the hitherto optimistic Weather Bureau will not promise a breeze. The revised agreement calls for a start every week day from this time on, so that there is a possibility of the fate of the cup being decided

Looking as fine as two fiddles tuned up to concert pitch, the Columbia and Shamrock lay quietly at their moorings all day, with their tenders close at hand, and tugs standing by for a call. During the early morning hours, the fog was even thicker than Tuesday, but when the sun came up, toward noon, the fog cleared away under the influ-ence of a light breeze from the south-southwest.

The cover was taken off the Colum

The cover was taken off the Columbia's mainsail, just before noon, and it was given a thorough overhauling and drying. The new club topsail was also looked after, and the running gear inspected fore and aft.

Speaking of the new topsail made for the Columbia since the last race, and set Tuesday for the first time, Mr. Iselin said: "Yes, it is a larger sail than any of the others, and I am pleased with the way it sets. Whether it is larger than any of the Shamrock's I am not prepared to say. You, who see the boats under sail from the distance, ought to be able to tell that, for I have not seen the sails of either boat from a distance."

The utmost confidence in the Ameriyacht prevails among her crew. y of them have wagered a month's pay on her, and all agree that she cannot be beaten. Weather conditions at the Horseshoe, where the fleet of yachts and tenders is lying, were nearly as depressing today as yesterday. The morning brought a fog like that of the day before, although less dense, which lifted slowly as the day advanced. Not a breath of air was stirring, and there was no sign of a breeze until the early afternoon, which was the dreariest part of the day.

On board the defender and challenger, a close watch was kept through the mist for vessels, but aside from this and the ordinary routine, there was little for the crew to do except wait for the morrow and hope for a wind. As the day advanced, the fog lifted, until at noon it was hardly more than a haze on the horizon.

About 1 o'clock the first breeze of the day came up from the south, light and hardly more than enough to make a ripple on the water. In the afternoon this increased, although it was never more than enough to move the smallest boats.

The sail-covers on the big yachts, taken off at midday, were replaced about mid-afternoon, the Columbia's men being the first to do this. No work on sails or rigging was done on the American boat. He said further that practically no changes had been made on the Columbia. He denied that any trouble had been experienced with the bobstay, and stated that the work on that had been merely painting.

One, for the Dense Crowds Piled in Upon Their Lines-Interview

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—The Twentieth Kansas Regiment and the 400 discharged soldiers, who arrived here last night on the transport Tartar, were landed today, after being an-chored in the stream all morning, during the progress of the health officers' examination. The stay at anchor was made less monotonous by the atten-tions of hundreds of people who journeyed as near to the transport as the quarantine regulations would permit, and showered messages and questions upon the boys. Fruit and good things to eat in abundance were passed on board, much to the gratification of the oldiers

The inspection was finished early in the afternoon, and the word was passed among the soldlers that the vessel would be docked immediately. A great hurrah greeted the announcement, and hurrah greeted the announcement, and the soldiers commenced their preparations for debarkation. Under the guidance of a powerful tugboat, the transport was towed to the government dock. The waterfront was black with people, all anxious to greet the regiment. As the Tartar passed slowly along the waterfront, the soldiers were cheered time and again. Flags were dipped and whistles and calliopes added to the din.

The scene in the vicinity of the transport dock was an exciting one. Hundreds of relatives and friends of the discharged California soldiers, who accompanied the Kansans home, gathered here to get a few words with the sol-discharged California soldiers, who accompanied the Kansans home, gathered here to get a few words with the soldiers before they commenced the march. The march to the Presidio reservation was also an exciting one for the soldiers. The welcome they received was second only to that accorded the home troops on their return. Both sides of Market street, and the other streets through which the street cars passed, were thronged with people, all anxious to do them homage. Cheers upon cheers passed up and down the lines of people. Cannons were fired at intervals, bells clanged and whistles and steam calliopes added their respective noises to the occasion.

The Kansans marched to the Presidio, escorted by artillery officers and band from the Presidio, and four companies of artillery. Gen. Funston and Gov. Stanley of Kansas and escort followed. The throngs surged around Gen. Funston, and he had great difficulty making progress through the crowds. Cheer upon cheer greeted him, but his only acknowledgment was a military salute, and an occasional doffing of his cap. A great break in the parade occurred here, and an admiring mass of people filled the interval.

The soldiers, headed by Col. Metcalf.

The soldiers, headed by Col. Metcalf, followed. Each man carried a sur val.

The soldiers, headed by Col. Metcalf, followed. Each man carried a gun which had been decorated with flowers. The crowds simply would not let the soldiers pass in peace. Breaks occurred every few minutes. Relatives and friends broke into the ranks and marched with the soldiers, some smiling and laughing, and others crying, but all happy and glad. The regimental colors, little the worse for wear, in spite of the arduous campaign through which they had passed, called forth a tremendous burst of applause whenever they were sighted.

All in all, the soldiers looked to be in fair health, but of course there were some who showed the effects of the severe ordeal through which they have passed. Bringing up in the rear of the regiment were the hospital wagons, not very heavily laden with sick.

The parade was reviewed on Van Ness avenue by Gen. Shafter, Gov. Stanley and Gov. Rogers of Washington and their staffs.

Gen. Funston, in an interview today, ton and their staffs.

Gen. Funston, in an interview today, said:

"This is America, you know—and I am an American. That tells the story best of our delight in reaching home again. There is nothing like the great joy of being back among you all here again—among people whom we know are our countrymen and kin.

"I have only this to say of the campaign in the Philippines—everything is being done that could be to carry the war to an early and successful conclusion. The report that I am an anti-expansionist is ridiculous and not worthy of serious consideration. I never intimated such a thing, and have been wrongly quoted in the matter.

"The people must stop to consider, when they are passing judgment, that there are countless conditions to be constantly combatted and overcome here before headway can be made. I fear that the exact difficulties of the situation are not fully understood. Some mistakes may have been made, but the campaign has been conducted in a most able and conscientious manner, and every man has done his best. No grave errors have occurred, but it is always easy to look back and comment upon what has been done, even though that might have been accomplished under trying circumstances."

KANSAS REJOICES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] KANSAS CITY, Oct. 11.—All Kansas KANSAN CITY, Oct. 11.—All Kansas is rejoicing over the arrival at San-Francisco of the Twentieth Kansas Regiment and Gen. Funston. When the news came last night almost every city and town in the State started an impromptu celebration that lasted until after midnight, and was resumed today. Whistles screeched, fire bells rang and the streets filled with noisy, jubilant crowds of men and women, who paraded behind bands playing patriotic airs, built huge bonfires in the streets and cheered inspiring speeches of prominent citizens delivered on street corners.

At Iola, the home of Gen. Funston and twenty boys of the Twentieth Regiment, a constant demonstration was kept up and the arrival of the soldiers was spoken of by everyone as a personal good fortune.

At Ottawa a big congregation listening to a sermon at the State Baptist Convention, broke into cheers that became a shout before they were silenced, and sang "America" with dramatic effect.

Senator Frye of Maine was received with much cheering, and said in part: "Since the close of the civil war, the progress of the republic has amazed the whole world. lay, either, at Bartlett's yesterday. Music Box customers were numerous and, of course, the number sold was in excess of the piano sales. Still we managed to keep our teams busy carting out to their new homes the large number of pianos which were disposed of. It appears that the people have just awakened to a realization of the fact that not only are we selling the medium and cheaper grades of pianos at wholesale prices, but that those who are artistically inclined, and will not be satisfied with any other than the best, can get it here. In other words, that the great piano sale includes all the Steinway planos, all the Weber stock and all the Kimball goods at the same cut prices. Certainly it is a showing that any of the music houses out side of New York might be proud of to dispose of two superb Steinway pianos in one day. That is what we did yes-terday-and they were sandwiched in between Weber and Kimball and sev eral other cheaper priced piano sales. We advertised yesterday as "Music

A beautiful Cabinet Grand Upright Steinway piano was sold to Mrs. Frank Lecouvreur, and will be not only a source of musical enjoyment in her ome but an ornament to her parlor.

Another Upright Grand Steinway, in hoicest dark mahogany case, will hereafter grace the home of Mr. Frank E Moore, the well-known druggist of God frey & Moore. This piano was purchased for Mrs. Moore as a surprise, she being now in the East on a visit.

We cannot too strongly insist on your giving this great plano sale the consideration it deserves if your home is without a piano, and now-right nowis the time to attend to it. We have more planos, but they won't last always, and from present indications the choicest ones will be gone in a very short time. INT DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

CHIHUAHUA (Mex.,) Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Col. Antonio Ramos Cadena and Lieut.-Col. Mauro Candano of the Mexican army have arrived here on their way to take command of reinforcements that are now being sent against the Yaqui Indians. These two officers will join the Mexican troops near Potam. They state that the War Department has issued orders for the immediate commencement of a decampaign against the Indians, and that from now on there will be no temporizing with the stubborn rebels.

About two weeks ago, Gen. Torres notified the warring members of the tribe that full and unconditional pardon would be granted to all who surrendered and laid down their arms within ten days. This pardon also embraced the restoration to each Indian of his pro rata of land, granted to the members of the tribe two years ago. There were less than 100 responses to this notice, and those who surrendered are nearly all old men, who could not stand the hardship of the severe campaign about to be undertaken.

It is reported that the Mexican troops have received instructions from Gen. Torres to take no prisoners, and that it is to be a war of extermination.

President Diaz has instructed the Mexican Consul at San Francisco to investigate the report that the Yaquis have an agent in that city, and that arms and ammunition are being sent from there by boat into the Yaqui ountry by way of the Yaqui River. It is certain that the Indians have re-cently come into possession of a big lot of Mauser rifles, and it is known that these guns were not purchased

It is hinted that a large American mining company, now operating in the Yaqui country undisturbed, although warring Indians are all around them, has had something to do with supply-ing the Indians with arms and other supplies, and that such shipments came consigned to the company as mining machinery. The officers of this company reside in San Francisco.

PRESCOTT (Ariz.,) Oct. 9.—[Regular Correspondence.] The most elaborate social event known to Prescott for years was the wedding, last Thursday, of Harry W. Heap and Miss Helen Wells. The groom, receiver for the Phoenix Street Railway Company, came from Phoenix, accompanied by his best man, Fred W. Wood, and by many other friends. The bride is one of Prescott's native daughters, and has lived here for most of the years of her life. She is the daughter of Judge Wells, pioneer capitalist and jurist, and the wedding brightly marked the thirtieth anniversary of the union of her parents. The ceremony was per-formed at the home, and was con-ducted by Rt.-Rev. Mills Kendrick, Episcopal Bishop of the diocese of New ner parents. The evenuous was penducted by Rt.-Rev. Milis Kendrick, Episcopal Bishop of the diocese of New Mexico and Arizona. The bridesmalds were Miss Doris Heap of Los Angeles, sister of the groom, Miss Gayle Allen of Jerome, Misses Eva McCandless, Gertrude Wells, Emma Dutcher and Irene Martin of Prescott. The ushers were Louis Masten of San Francisco, H. F. Hall of Albuquerque, F. A. Tritle, Jr., John Hanlon and John Wilson of Prescott. At the wedding ceremony were few beside members of the family, but to the reception that followed came hundreds, to multiply good wishes to the young couple. The wedding presents were many. One now being enjoyed by the recipients was a trip to the seaside resorts of Southern Cafifornia, the donor being Gen. M. H. Sherman of Los Angeles, who has known the bride since her early childhood. About November 1 the couple will return to Arizona, to occupy, in Phoenix, a completely furnished brick residence, the gift of the parents of the bride.

Col. A. F. Banta has sold the Daily and Weekly Pick and Drill, the purchaser being Thomas L. Shultz, for years a printer and newspaper man in Phoenix and Prescott. The paper will probably change politics, for Shultz is a Democrat. Banta's valedictory is as unique as is his personality. In it he observes: "The undersigned gladly throws up the sponge, and having ne thanks to tender, nor apologies to make, he simply quits, and there's an end to the matter. The fact of the matter is, we have had more than enough chicken pie to last our gastronomic machinery for a good while; and we are now perfectly willing to fall back from the firing line, and make soom for our friend, Tom Shultz, to wheel into line and face the music—of 'devils' and other pestiferous adjuncts of a print-shop. YUMA (Ariz.,) Oct. 9.—[Regular Cor-espondence.] There has been a boom in Yuma's Gretna Green business, caused probably by the official publication of the fact that summer has departed at last from the town. Almost every train from California now bears divorcees, who would marry again, un-hampered by the vexatious laws of the Golden State. All that is necessary in Arizona is to show that the contracting parties are over 21 years of age, and that there is to be no miscescenation, whereupon the Probate Judge issues a license, at a cost of $2.50, and the nearest justice of the peace will tie the firmest of matrimonial knots, collecting $5, the legal fee for the job. They are bad enough, and should be and will be suppressed in due time. Doubtless The Times thinks it has done its whole duty when it holds up Redlands for tolerating an evil after Los Angeles, San Diego and some other places have abolished it. But not so. Let the big metropolitan daily now train its guns on the saloons, brothels and gambling dens which infest Los Angeles. Not until those dives of iniquity are banished can The Times point with just pride to its own city, and with fine scorn to Redlands.

Extension of Garland's Globe Railway-A Celestial Shooter.

GLOBE (Ariz.,) Oct. 9.—[Regular Correspondence.] President William Garland of the Glia Valley, Globe and Northern Road, has been in Globe during the past week. He is especially interested in the possibility of an extension of the line into Tonto Basin, whence even the Verde Valley and the great copper mines at Jerome might be reached. In company with Epes Randolph, superintendent of the Southern Pacific lines in Arizona, he is to make a thorough inspection of the freight-producing capabilities of Tonto Basin and the upper Salt River Valley. The road processed make a thorough inspection of the freight-producing capabilities of Tonto Basin and the upper Salt River Valley. The road proposed would take the traveler almost to the natural bridge of Pine Creek, one of the greatest of Arizona's many natural wonders, and in the same vicinity would furnish an outlet for a number of copper mines reputed to be of surpassing richness and comprising immense ledges. For the greater part the line would be of easy construction, but stiff climbs would be found on the Wheatfields Divide, below Globe, and in the vicinity of Payson. Construction is to begin soon on the extension of the railroad to the Black Warrior and Continental mines, a distance of about fifteen miles. At Wheatfields, twelve miles from Globe, last Tuesday, John Bowers, a butcher's employé, was shot and killed by Lee Chung, driver of a vegetable wagon. The weapon used was a 32-caliber revolver, produced unexpectedly by the Celestial while Bowers was playfully beating him over the head with a Winchester rifle. The two, both driving wagons, had had a disagreement over the right-of-way, and Bowers had secured the rifle at a wayside house for the express purpose of wiping Chung off the face of the earth. Chicago Chronicle: A girl kept smiling into vacancy the other aftermoon as a cable car rolled down town in its customary jerky fashion. It was a rainv afternoon and the passengers in the crowded car were in the usual irritable frame of mind that wet closes and dampened spirits inevitably provoke. But the girl was oblivious of rain and discomfort. Hereyes were fixed unseeingly on the dripping window pane and her mouth kept rebelliously twitching with the mirth that would find utterance. "She must be telling herself funny stories," whispered a man gruffly to his bad-tempered neighbor. "Don't see the joke, myself," returned the neighbor appealed to, trying to sneer, but getting the corners of his mouth by mistake turned up instead of turned down. "Well, you look as if you caught the point, anyway," added the original speaker, laughing also, and the twisted sneer that was half a smile developed instantly into a goodnatured grin. Quickly the merriment became contagious, and when a hoisterous youth exclaimed audibly, "Who killed the canary?" little chuckles of laughter echoed through the car from end to end, warming its chilly temperature and turning its gloom into cheery sunshine. Sudenly at Kinsle street the girl with the smile disappeared from view.

"I hope I didn't look like an utter fool," she said to herself as she left the car, "but I did want to change those glooray faces, and as an experiment I think it a decided success. But the 'Who killed the canary?' of that boy nearly settled my unconsciousness." And, still smiling, she walked quickly she venied despot.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] COLUMBUS (O.,) Oct. 11:-The first public utterance of Judge William R. Day, who was president of the Amer-Peace Commission, concerning the deliberations of the commissioners at former Congressman D. K. Watson of this city, and read by him at a Re Judge Day sets forth the which, in his mind, justified the pay-ment of $20,000,000 for the Philippines, declaring that it was never contended by the American commissioners that the United States had a right to the Philippines as a matter of conquest.

In this letter, after reviewing at length the long negotiations between the Spanish and American commission-ers, reciting the several propositions submitted to the Spaniards for the cession of the Philippines and the final ers, reciting the several propositions submitted to the Spaniards for the cession of the Philippines and the final offer, for the sake of securing an immediate peace, to pay an indemnity of $20,000,000, Judge Day says:

"On the 28th of November the Spanish commissioners accepted the terms offered by the representatives of the United States. You will observe that in making this proposal it is distinctly said that it embodies the concessions which, for the sake of immediate peace, the American government was willing to make. There were doubtless other reasons actuating the commissioners in making this proposal, though I think the chief one is embodied in the statement above written. It was not claimed that the United States had a right to the Philippines as a matter of conquest.

"The United States has never undertaken, so far as I know, to wrest from a foreign country, lands or possessions simply by right of conquest. Had we been disposed to do so, it must be remembered that we were in possession only of the city, bay and harbor of Manila, under the protocol of August 12, 1898, providing the United States should occupy and hold the same pending the conclusion of a treaty of peace which should determine the control, disposition and government of the Philippines.

"The capture, after the signing of the protocol, by Gen. Merritt and his forces, whatever its legal effect may have been, included no more territory than we were entitled to hold under the protocol. In addition to the hope of accomplishing immediate peace, which, I need hardly say, was of great importance at that time, there was a strong desire to treat Spain with a degree of magnanimity consistent with our national honor and prestige, following our national procedent in the treatment of Mexico for the cession or aferration, we obtained an indisputable title which must be respected by all other nations.

"It must be remembered, too, that the American commissioners had constantly refused to assume any of the outstanding debts or obligations which Spain ha Spain had not undertaken to substantiate any claim upon that ground.

"Of course, I, speak only for myself, and I write these views without opportunity to consult with my fellow-commissioners. In my judgment, the concession referred to was effectual in bringing about an acceptance of our proposals, which resulted in the making of the treaty."

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.-The Democratic State Central Committee will meet at the Hoffman House tonight There is said to be a movement on foot to oust Frank Campbell, ex-Senator David B. Both of these places are held at the pleasure of the State committee. The national committeeman, however, cannot take his seat until he has been ap-

David B. Hill will attend the meeting with many proxies from up the State. It is alleged that ex-Senator Murphy and Richard Croker are making the fight on Campbell. Friends of Hill intimate that Campbell is attacked because of his devotion to Bryan, but Murphy and Croker have both declared for Bryan very recently, and the trouble seems to be a continuation of the old feud between Hill and Croker.

FIRE AND FIREWATER.

A Combination That Proved the Un-

Fire and firewater are a combina-tion that proved the undoing of Charles Miller, a gardener employed by Mrs. W. P. Dunham of No. 1033 Westlake Miller, a gardener employed by Mrs. W. P. Dunham of No. 1033 Westlake avenue, whose husband is at his mines at Cripple Creek, Colo. By drinking the one and playing with the other, Miller lost his job and was sent to jall besides. The high wind of Tuesday made Miller very dry, and he imbibed freely of ardent spirits. With about three sheets in the wind he undertook to burn brush and rubbish about Mrs. Dunham's place, Tuesday evening. Owing to the gale, his employer feared that the fire might be communicated to adjacent houses. She, therefore, requested Miller not to burn the rubbish before the elements subsided. The demon drink, however, had control of the gardener, and he was bound to have a display of fireworks at all hazards. The more Mrs. Dunham protested the more Miller insisted upon having a bonfire. When his employer insisted upon having a bonfire. When his employer insisted that he should not start a confiagration, he grew violent and began to berate the lady with foul and violent language. At this stage of the game Special Officer Foster arrived upon the scene, and he, too, was treated to a volley of oaths and curses. Foster sent Miller to the Police Station, and yesterday complained against him in the Police Court on the charge of disturbing the peace. The prisoner was duly convicted and sentenced to five days' imprisonment.

The various auxilitoday and Friday. The various auxiliaries of the society, scattered through California, Nevada and Arizona, are represented by delegates, numbering in all about one hundred and fifty. The general meeting was preceded by a session of the executive board. There were thirty members of the control of the cont were thirty members of this commit-tee present. The opening session convened at 9:30 a.m. in the church auditorium. Miss Isabelle Leonard of Evanston, Ill., was in charge of the opening devotional exercises. Mrs. Clara V. Kummer of San José delivered the president's address. She spoke of the good work done by the Pacific branch during the year of her administration. At the last annual meeting it had been decided that the ladies should endeavor to raise $7500 for the work in India and China. They had done better than this by $500. Mrs. L. C. S. Dougherty of the University auxiliary gave the address of welcome, and Mrs. Caroline B. Oliver of Oakland responded. The roll call showed an attendance of 150 and many more delegates are expected today. The president announced the following committees: Credentials, Mrs. C. B. Oliver, Berkeley, and Mrs. Hervey Lindley, Whittier; Resolutions, Mrs. Wardwell Couch, Mrs. J. A. Wood, South Pasadena, and Mrs. Marion Taylor of Oakland; Enrollment, Mrs. Charles Brown, University, and Miss Carluthers of San José; Finance, Mrs. Thomas Lloyd, University, and Mrs. E. M. The Chinese there collected thirty-five silver dollars and made them into small statues, which were sent to this country for sale, and will realize a considerable amount for the mission fund. Mrs. E. GENERAL FALL OF RAIN. MUCH OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Storm Comes at an Inopportune Time for Some Ranchers, but the Loss Will not Be Great-More in

Although nearly .30 of inch of rain fell in the city yesterday, the country outside the city and adjacent counties received a much more copious drenching. There was a light sprinkle before noon, and beginning about 1 o'clock the rain continued lightly for half an hour, and then came a downpour which, had it continued until night would have caused the gauges to regis ter an inch or two. Until after 4 o'clock there were frequent light sprinkles, and then the clouds disappeared and a clear sunset followed. The Weather Bureau had predicted showers during the night, but up to midnight there was no indication of a fulfillment of that prophecy. The night reports from that prophecy. The night reports from other points, however, indicated that the storm, if it can be called such, is not over and, despite the prediction of fair weather today, frequent or heavy showers would not be surprising. In this city the rain was only heavy

In this city the rain was only heavy enough to wash the paved streets. In the oil district it almost filled some of the sumpholes, so that if there is more of it today, the residence section in the southwestern portion of the city will be almost certain to receive a flood of black oil, because the law with reference to the proper filling of the holes in the oil fields has been allowed to become almost a dead letter.

ORANGE COUNTY. Rain began falling again in the Santa Ana Valley yesterday afternoon, con-tinuing until almost nightfall. Almost an inch of water fell. The indications were favorable for more during the night.

At Anahelm last night there was every indications of more rain. A light shower occurred the night before. SANTA BARBARA COUNTY.

In Santa Barbara the rain began falling at 9:30 o'clock yesterday mornfalling at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and continued at intervals throughout the day. In the northern part of the county, the precipitation was much heavier. Last night there were indications for more showers. Considerable hay and grain from the heavy crop had not been disposed of, and the rain upon it will cause some loss to the farmers.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY. A dispatch from San Diego last night says that the indications were for a heavy rain before morning. A light shower began there at 1 o'clock p.m., and continued until nearly dark. RIVERSIDE COUNTY.

Rain began falling at Riverside at 2 p.m., and continued for some hours. The precipitation amounted to .20 of an inch. Reports from the back country indicate that the storm is gen-eral in scope: Indications last night were favorable for more rain.

VENTURA COUNTY. Nearly half an inch of rain fell at Ventura yesterday afternoon. At Hueneme the gauge showed .60 of an inch and at Springville and Los Pesas the precipitation was nearly as great. Little, if any, damage will be done to the crops of Lima beans and beets. In the San Fernando Valley, the rainfall was much heavier than in the city. Most of the water disappeared into the dry carth, and the flow in the small streams was not greatly increased. At the waterworks headworks, however, the depth of the river was increased several inches.

At Pasadena there was a good downpour. Nearly half an inch of rain fell

CALIFORNIA PETROLEUM.

Prof. W. L. Watts, assistant in the field to the California State Mining Bureau, then addressed the visitors on the subject of "Petroleum in California." He said in part:

"The existence of petroleum in California has been known for many years. From time immemorial the California Indians used this mineral, in the form of asphaltum, for various purposes. In the early history of the State the Catholic fathers utilized it for roofing their missions and other buildings.

"It is said that in 1855 or 1856 Andreas Pico distilled petroleum on a small scale for the San Fernando Mission. He obtained his crude oil from Pico Cafion, near Newhall, in Los Angeles county; and he was probably the first refiner of petroleum in this State. In 1856 a company commenced work at the La Brea ranch in Los Angeles county; and thered to refine the crude oil. In 1857 an attempt was made to produce illuminating oil from crude-petroleum at Carpinteria, in Santa Barbara county; and there are records of similar attempts having been made in other localities previous to 1860, but none of them were successful.

"The first scientific report on petroleum in California was made by Prof. B. Silliman, who published his researches in 1865. He spoke favorably of the possibility of obtaining petroleum in remunerative quantities in this State, and gave the results of his experiments on the fractional distillation of California petroleum.

"The next decade was marked by a considerable oil excitement in California, and a great many companies were formed for the purpose of petroleum mining, and for distilling crude oil.

"In most instances these companies did not meet with success, but it must be remembered that the pioneer oil of petroleum deposits.

"The pioneer distillers appear to have expected that by the fractional distillation of California petroleum they would obtain similar products to those resulting from the fractional distillation of the petroleum found in the Eastern States; but they were disappointed. It is not surprising that in the course of years the smaller operators became merged in larger concerns. In 1887 when the State Mining Bureau made a reconnaissance of the petroleum industry of California, the only companies actually engaged in petroleum industry of California, the only companies actually engaged in petroleum industry of California, the only companies actually engaged in petroleum industry of California, the only companies actually engaged in the Puente Oil Company in the Puente Hills, Los Angeles county; the Hardisson & Stewart Oil Co., subsequently incorporated as the Union Oil Company of Ventura county, and McPherson & Co., were operating in Moody Gulch, in Santa Clara county.

"The first refinery that can be considered a commercial success was that of the California Star Oil Company, which was situated near Newhall, in Los Angeles county, and managed by T. H. Scott. Subsequently, refineries were erected at Alameda by the Pacific Coast Oil Company, and at Santa Paula by the Union Oil Company at the present day there are refineries at Los Angeles, Chinō, Ventura and Alameda, also at Oleum, in Contra Costa county, to which place the refinery of the Union Oil Company was removed.

meda, also at Oleum, in Contra Costa county, to which place the refinery of the Union Oil Company was removed.

"During the last decade there has been a steady increase in the amount of petroleum produced in California, and in the amount of oil territory developed. In 1889 the output of petroleum for the State was 303,220 barrels; in 1898 it was 2,249,888 barrels, an increase of more than sevenfold.

"In California petroleum is found in formations which range from the lower cretaceous to the quaternary, the greater portion being in the eocene, the miocene. In this State it is imperative that oil mining operations should be governed by a careful study of the structural geology of the locality wherein operations are conducted, for wherever petroleum has been found in California, geological disturbance has complicated the stratigraphic conditions.

"Oil-vielding formations have been complicated the stratigraphic conditions.

"Oil-yielding formations have been traced throughout the Coast range, almost from San Diego to Del Nortecounty. North of San Francisco no otifields have as yet been developed, but prospect wells are being drilled at several places.

"The most remarkable feature in the recent history of the petroleum industry of California have been the development of the Los Angeles oil field, of the Summerland oil field of Coalinga, in Fresno county. The Summerland oil field many of you have visited. It has been described, and the history of its development has been recorded in the reports and bulletins of the California State Mining Bureau, and in the work recently published by the Miners' Association on the mines and minerals of California. The Coalinga oil field is the most important oil field yet developed in the borders of the central valley of California. It is remarkable both for the amount and the quality of the oil which it has produced.

After luncheon most of the delegates went to Santa Monica for the afternoon. The Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company provided a special car for the trip. Returning to the city in time for dinner, the visitors were ready to accept an invitation to attend the Orpheum last night. After the theater they were entertained at Levy's by a Mexican supper, given by the mining associations and architects' and engineers' organizations of the city.

at 10 o'clock this morning for San Diego. They will be entertained at Hotel del Coronado by a dinner this evening and a ball tonight. At 8 o'clock Friday morning the party expect to leave San Diego for Riverside and Redlands. After visiting these points they will proceed to New York.

A party of those who did not visit the oil section yesterday has been organized to go out to the derrick district at 6 o'clock' this morning. Prof. Watts will conduct the party and show them about the oil fields. Another party will visit Pasadena.

Some of the delegates will not go to San Diego, but will remain here a day or two and then catch the train at Colton.

Columbia and the Shamrock are men everywhere. Jim Hennessey, a loyal son of the "auld sod," has money that says the Shamrock will win when the wind gets strong enough to make a race. Hennessey also has brawn to back up his favorite if needs be. Dan Leahy, on the other hand, although of the purest Irish paternity, has lived in this country so long that he acknowledges allegiance only to the Stars and Stripes. Therefore, Leahy is an earnest backer of the cup defender. While discussing the merits of the respective yachts over a few drams of potheen Tuesday night, Hennessey and Leahy became so animated in their discussion that fists took the place of verbal arguments, with such telling effect on the part of the adherent of the Shamrock that the backer of the Columbia was all but down and out when Officer Pat Murray, another descendant of the Irish kings, clothed with the majesty of the law, swooped down upon the participants in the scrap-fest and placed both of the Hibernian scrappers under arrest on the charge of disturbing the peace, to which accusation the twain pleaded guilty, and were fined the uniform sum of $5 each. Thus honors between the Columbia and the Shamrock remain even up to date. nen everywhere. Jim Hennessey, a oyal son of the "auld sod," has money

The Coalinga oil field is the most important oil field yet developed in the borders of the central valley of California. It is remarkable both for the amount and the quality of the oil which it has produced.

"In the Los Angeles oil field fully 1100 wells have been drilled, within an area of about two and a . quarter miles in length, and less than a quarter of a mile in width. Also a western extension of that oil field is rapidly being developed about a mile to the westward of what has heretofore been known as the Los Angeles oil field. The first portion of the oil field developed was at Second-street Park, and the discovery that oil existed there in valuable quantities was due to the enterprise of Messrs. Doheny and Cormon, who commenced operations by sinking a prospect shaft 155 feet deep at the corner of Patton and State streets. The way in which a forest of derricks grew up, as if by magic, and a district of quiet residences was transformed into a mining center is a matter of history.

"The California oil fields which have as yet been developed are situated in Los Angeles, Orange, Ventura, Santa Barbara, Kern, Kings and Fresno counties.

"Although only a small portion of the California petroleum is that it furnishes an excellent fuel. Repeated tests have shown that for fuel purposes from fwo and a half to four barrels of crude petroleum may be taken as the equivalent of one ton of good coal, the ratio of value differing according to the conditions under which the petroleum is burned.

The use of petroleum as fuel in this committee will recommend that standing committees are constitution and by-laws and to report at a meeting of the amount and state of the first of

A TELLING POINT.

The Chicago Daily News makes this excellent point against the mob of kickers and copperheads who are forever clamoring "agin the government," and who are ceaselessly declaring that in attempting to suppress the insur-rection in the Philippines we are assailing a struggling people who are fighting for their independence. The News says:

"If anything were needed to convince the American people of the fact that at present, at least, the Filipinos are not capable of self-government it would be the threat which some of them are making that the war will be prolonged indefinitely, and that assassination will be resorted to, if necessary, to drive the Americans from the Island of Luzon. A nation that threatens assassination instead of fighting honorably in the field for what it believes to be its rights, can never take a place among civilized people until a higher ideal has displaced this instinct and remnant of barbarism. It becomes, in fact, a nation of outlaws and anarchists, whose hands are raised against every man. It floats the black flag as indisputably as any pirate that ever sailed the Spanish main. For a civilized people to threaten to employ the stiletto of the assassin is simply inconceivable."

It is for these barbarians, assassing and pirates that Edward Atkinson, Carl Schurz, William J. Bryan and their handful of associated yawpers are tearing passions to tatters and fretting the air with raucous and disordant warwhoops. THE SOUTHERN SUGAR BOWL CONTEST.

IN PRINTER'S INK of March 8th the announcement was made that PRINTER'S INK would shortly award a solid silver sugar bowl to the newspaper published south of a line drawn from San Francisco' to St. Louis, thence to Cincinnati, thence to Philadelphia and thence to the Atlantic Ocean, that gives an advertiser best service in proportion to the price demanded of him. The territory specified includes the cities of Washington, Baltimore, Louisville, Richmond, Atlanta, Nashville, New Orleans, Dallas, Houston and Los Angeles, and others of considerable commercial importance.

An object of the competition, aside from the award of the trophy to the right paper, was to secure from the newspapers deeming themselves eligible, a statement of the facts upon which they based their claim. Such communications are of interest to advertisers. Every competition of this character which the Little Schoolmaster has instituted has brought to light interesting facts concerning extremely low rates, or perhaps, extremely high, the real significance of which had not been previously discerned. The pitting of rate against rate, circulation against circulation, quality against quality, has its uses. Occasionally a newspaper, which, standing alone, has appeared very big, suddenly seems to diminish in size and importance when compared with others which have grown in the interval since the advertiser had mentally placed it in relation to its competitors. Every now and then some new paper comes forward in the race in a manner to compel a readjustment

The value of a newspaper to an advertiser is relative. It depends upon the people he wishes to reach, the article he has to sell and the skill with which he prepares the announcement that is to influence custom. Taking it for granted, however, that an appropriate medium has been selected, that through it is offered a commodity which should interest the public to which the medium goes, and that the announcement is one calculated to interest the public sought, the first consideration that will be considered in attempting to determine the comparative value of the medium will be the price it charges for its space.

Important as the price for space is, however, it is not the only fac-The paper with the lowest rate may be so destitute of character, reach so poor and undesirable a class, that its worth to the advertiser is not as great as another newspaper whose rate is nominally twice as high. To determine how the rates of various publications stand in relation to one another, one naturally proceeds to ascertain the rate per line charged for each thousand of circulation. In the table here reproduced may be seen the names of the publications deemed eligible, their circulations, and the rate per line per thousand circulation.

As a preliminary basis of comparison the rate of the Washington Star was selected, and whenever a newspaper had a higher rate than the Star held in San Francisco on September 26, 1899, a resolution was unanimously adopted reciting that, in the opinion of the California Club, it is essential to the memory of the control of th Washington Star. To do so would involve a degree of courage and recklessness apparently not very widespread among journalists. Baltimore News claimed, however, that the Star's rate did not include changes while its own did, and that therefore its rate was lower than the Star's, a contention that was allowed for the time being. To the test of comparing their charges to the Star's all the competitors succumbed, as can be seen from the table above, except the following:

Los Angeles (Cal.) Times. Norfolk (Va.) Virginian-Pilot. Washington (D. C.) Times. Baltimore (Md.) Herald. Chattanooga (Tenn.) Times. Houston (Tex.) Post. New Orleans (La.) Item. Baltimore (Md.) News.

When in addition quality and local conditions were taken into consideration, the necessity for further elimination was readily seen. Thus, the Item of New Orleans could hardly be deemed to occupy a representative position in a city that possesses also the Picayune and the Times Democrat; the Chattanooga Times was not published in a territory that was deemed so specially populous and desirable as would be necessary in a winner of the Southern Sugar Bowl; the quality of the Washing ton Star was believed to more than offset the difference in rate between it and the Times in the same city. In the case of the Baltimore Herald the same comparison and result were believed to apply. This left as

> Washington (D. C.) Star. Los Angeles (Cal.) Times Houston (Tex.) Post. Baltimore (Md.) News. Norfolk (Va.) Virginian-Pilot.

So far as the character of circulation is concerned, the five papers named may be considered about on a level. They are all issued in thriving communities and the best people and the worst as well, perhaps, all read them. As to the "quality" of the Los Angeles Times and of the Washington Star as newspapers, it is known and acknowledged everywhere. The Houston Post may not be on quite so high a level, but whether it is or not, it will be so considered for present purposes The Virginian-Pilot may also be considered for the present as being equal in quality to its competitors; so may the Baltimore News.

All that remains, then, is to compare the rates. Of these those of the Los Angeles Times are the lowest. In 1898 the net circulation of this paper was 26,131, and the lowest rate is forty cents per inch, making a line cost per thousand of circulation .0010 plus, or approximately OOII. The rate of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot, as claimed by itself in PRINTERS' INK of June 14th, is .0012. As its field and quality are not better than, if so good as those of the Los Angeles Times, the Virginian Pilot must be eliminated. The Houston Post, with a quality of circulation certainly not higher than that of the Los Angeles Times, also asks a higher rate for space. The Houston Post must, therefore, be dropped from the list. The Baltimore News, with a field probably not superior There were big, yellow twenty-dollar pleces in those drops of rain which tell yesterday. from the list. The Baltimore News, with a field probably not superior to the Los Angeles Times, charges over fifty per cent. more for space. The Baltimore News must, therefore, be dropped out. All that remains now are the Los Angeles Times and the Washington Star. Of the quality of the latter there is no question. If the Los Angeles Times stands on as high a level, it certainly occupies a proud position. But in the matter of rates there is considerable difference between the two, and that difference favors the Los Angeles Times. The Star claims its lowest rate to be .0015 per line per thousand circulation. This rate does not, however, include changes or cuts, which every intelligent advertiser makes and uses. The charge for changes and cuts is really an anachronism with which the Star should dispense. When the charge for changes is added, the Star's lowest rate is six and one-half cents per line, or over .002 per line per thousand of circulation, approximately twice as high as that of its California rival. The only question that arises in this connection, then, is, is the Star's quality, its influence with its readers, so much greater than that of the Los Angeles Times as to make its rate really as favorable a proposition for the advertiser as the Times? To this question the Little Schoolmaster feels bound to reply that he deems the quality of both, so far as they have a bearing upon value to an advertiser, to be actually equal. As indicating the difference which the Star's extra charge for changes and cuts makes in a yearly contract, it may be noted that an ordinary six-inch double-column advertisement, half reading and half cut, with daily change, would cost in the Washington Star for 312 days $5,372.64, while in the Los Angeles Times the charge would be $1,872.

The conclusion that these facts lead to is that the LOS ANGELES TIMES is entitled to the Southern Sugar Bowl. To that newspaper Printers' Ink awards the proud position of being the one newspaper that gives an advertiser best service for his money, in proportion to the price charged, in all that portion of the United States situated below a line drawn through the map from San Francisco through St. Louis, Cincinnati and Philadelphia to the Atlantic Ocean.

To secure this trophy is indeed an honor. To have been considered a likely competitor for it is a notable distinction. Those who have over-estimated their comparative merits may console themselves by the thought that through this competition many of their virtues have been heralded to an attentive public, through a medium which that public reads with ever-increasing interest.

The large attendance at the afternoon session proves conclusively that the club women of Los Angeles and members of the Woman's Parliament have plenty of pluck and grit, sprinkled in with their education, and they found it rather delightful to tempt old Jupiter Pluvius in their best clothes. The audience was the largest and most appreciative one since the parliament nopened.

A half-hour was devoted to business left over from the morning session. In reply to a response from a Los Angeles weekly paper, the parliament woted not to have an official organ or journal.

Mrs. Marie L. Lesley of Santa Anaread the first paper. Her subject was "The Educational System of the Day." She opened her paper by saying: "That many of the educational methods of today are far from being perfect, and fall to meet the needs of the times, none will deny. In proof of this the magazines from east to west are teeming with articles from thoughtful men and women pleading for a new and better system of education.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

The Pomona press is a unit in con-demning a Sunday street fight between drunken men, that continued for nearly an hour, the fighters unmolested by any peace officer. Such things bla-zoned to the world—as they are certain to be—do more hurt to that city than all her blessings can outweigh. Every man, woman, and child of un-derstanding in Pomona should be each derstanding in Fomona should be each a committee of one, first to punish these blackguards; and, second, to make the town too hot to hold those who are likely to repeat the disgrace. The fact that one of them "is a good fellow when not drunk" makes his shame all the more offensive.

New and valuable finds of oil in the Fullerton district have given an impetus to investment in that line, and, incidentally, to every other avenue of business in that section. Real estate in that county is experiencing a gradual rise, and all else follows sufual rise, and all else follows suit. Building is general and extensive, and on all sides real prosperity is mani-fest. Five acres of land south of Ful-lerton sold last week for $5000, but it must be remembered that that land was "watched and tended" and no "dead tree was there." Recapitulation: By reason of capital, courage and hard labor invested, that section is in a thriving condition. Lesson: So, also, may any other section be, through the same means.

In Riverside preparations are being open up an additional 100 acres arrangements having been completed to convey water to it. This is remarkable, principally for the fact that the men who have invested the necessary money are "experienced orange-grow-ers." It is submitted to prospective ers." It is submitted to prospective property purchasers that men who know by experience all there is to learn of citrus-fruit growing do not invest their money hurriedly or on chances. Therefore, if these men are chances. Therefore, it these men are warranted in this investment, so would other men be. The fact that the only obstacle to obtaining water was sufficient money and pluck to develop it is not without significance in this water-developing age.

One Martin Muldowney and a so-called restaurant he conducted in Red-lands, were the causes of much vexa-tion of soul to the reputable folk of that town, so much so, that, after a lapse of more than a year, the authori-ties have arrested and will prosecute him for the "blind-pigging" of that time. There is nor can be any good objection to this, but it forces to the front by comparison the lax attitude of these same goody-goody folk toward the crowning curse of the age, the robbing nickel-in-the-slot machine. Fine church edifices dot that beautiful town, and, presumably, fine men con-trol them, yet the jail records, and closeted skeletons in many families cry out against this vile debaucher of youth, and the church people are thun-derously silent. Consistency is, or ought to be, a jewel in Christian life.

When a paying investment was when a paying investing was found in lemon culls, people won-dered; when a good round sum per ton was offered for apricot and peach pits they marveled, and now that Santa Ana has a factory running night and day on corn husks for tamales the limit of surprise is reached. Thus do limit of surprise is reached. Thus do unexpected avenues open for progressive enterprises, and the man who enters and occupies them is he who is prepared. The possibilities in celery, sucalyptus oil, the products of petroleum, the packing of edible fish and trustaceans, the manufacture of many things now imported, all invite capital and aggressive will power, and must repay judicious investment. Innocent Tourist" Arrested by Special Officer Foster and Turned Loose by the Detectives Comes to Grief in San Francisco.

It transpired yesterday that George Seal, a clever burglar, who was sen-enced to eight years' imprisonment in Beal, a clever burgiar, who was sen-tenced to eight years' imprisonment in San Francisco recently, slipped through the hands of the local police last June, after robbing several houses in this city. While the local detectives

San Francisco recently, slipped through the hands of the local police last June, after robbing several houses in this city. While the local detectives feel some chagrin over this discovery, Private Patroliman C. L. Foster has the satisfaction of being able to say "I told you so."

Foster was subjected to considerable criticism for taking Beal into custody last June, because it was represented that Beal was a wealthy tourist merely traveling about the city to view the sights. Foster's suspicions were aroused by the manner in which Beal prowled around the handsome residences in the Bonnie Brae district, which Foster is employed especially to watch. Foster shadowed the young man for two hours before taking him into custody on suspicion of being a burglar on a prospecting tour for good houses to rob.

The suspect appeared to take his arrest as a joke, and accompanied Foster to the Police Station without a murmur, except to protest mildly that he thought the officer had made a mistake. When searched by the detectives a lot of ladies' jewelry was found upon his person, but it was not identified as any stolen property that had been reported to the police. The suspect gave such a good account of himself, by representing that he was merely a tourist who had walked forth to view the handsome Los Angeles homes, that he was turned loose with profuse apologies for his detention.

Beal commented somewhat sarcastically upon the fact that a tourist could not look at the beauties of Los Angeles without being arrested by a "fresh cop." but he still was disposed to regard his adventure as a capital joke. He left the city quietly forthwith, without filing any charges against the special officer who had so "unwarrantedly" interfered with his personal liberty.

Pairolman Foster endured patiently the gibes leveled at him for arresting an "innocent tourist," confident in the belief that he was not mistaken when he sized Beal up for a professional house-breaker. He bided his time for just such news as so come down from San Francisco, a

The President and His Duty

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It may have been said somewhere in the voluminous comments on President McKinley's at-titude with regard to the Philippines titude with regard to the Philippines, but if so I have not observed it, that he has a constitutional duty to perform on the subject. The Constitution of the United States (in which Boston is included,) and all treaties and laws made and enacted pursuant to that instrument, are the supreme law of the land. The President is sworn to uphold the Constitution and such treaties and laws.

Our treaty of peace was made with Spain, and that treaty must be upheld by the President until the Congress determines what disposition shall be made of the territory acquired thereby, and the President has absolutely no legal right to dispose of these possessions of the nation, or to grant any governmental powers or authority not subject to that treaty and the sovereignty of the United States, to Goldenrod of Silver-whistle Aguinaldo or any other person or persons whatsoever. Moreover, if we should ever abandon the Philippines, or any portion of them. Moreover, if we should ever abandon the Philippines, or any portion of them, we will do so in a peaceful, regular and orderly way; because, as Gen. U. S. Grant said (and he was an authority on the subject) the American people are so much in favor of peace that they are always ready to fight for it.

EX-SOLDIER.

An Historic Analogy.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Prof. T.

L. Heaton's unpatriotic and ill-timed declaration at Santa Barbara, "that if he (Heaton) were a Filipino he would not lay down his arms while foreign troops remained in the Philippines," etc., etc., has an unfortunate and fatal precedent contained in a speech in the United States Senate during the war waged by the United States against Mexico, by one of its most brilliant members, Thomas Corwin, who was opposed to the war: "If I were a Mexican, as I am an American, I would welcome the invaders with bloody hands to inhospitable graves." The American people promptly and forever repudiated the sentiment, and the man who uttered it, silver-tongued as he was, and illustrious as he had been. Prof. Heaton and all who think as he does, should profit by the example.

Though Corwin attempted to rise again by the magic of his oratory and the former prestige of his fame, his efforts were as futile, sad and pitiable as those of a broken-winged eagle to regain his native eyrie. J. W. A.

Robinson's Estate-Neuman Had Chance-Legality of Wright Irrigation Law, Attacked in Supreme Court.

During the last few days many com-plaints have been made regarding th plaints have been made regarding the sewers, and the fault is supposed to lie largely in poor flush tanks and inefficient methods of flushing. Health officer Powers has become alarmed at the conditions that exist, and at the kind that can stand on its merits given the preference."

A report on file in the Superintendent's office, giving the location and the condition of each tank in the city last April, shows a surprising number of them to have been out of order, and the department reports that the conditions are fully as bad today. Of the 338 Miller tanks reported, 169 were out of order in some particular. Either the tank would not work without a full flow of water, the bell must be lifted by hand, or the water ran through the siphon, rendering the tank inoperative. Of the 59 Van Vrankin tanks, 54 displayed some disability, and 16 out of 31 Field's Warring tanks were reported out of condition. The 73 Walker tanks were all reported in good shape, and as giving satisfaction in every particular. The only three mentioned as being unserviceable, had never been connected with the water mains.

vicinity complain of thumping in the water pipes. This is said to be caused by lack of pressure, and is known as a "water hammer". Owing to the fact that no provision was made in the original contract of 1868 between the city and the water company for flushing the sewers, the company has not been over-generous with water for this purpose. One man on a bicycle has been constantly employed by the water company to go from one tank to another and see that the water was turned off.

The whole question of sewers and the proper means of ventilating and flushing them will probably come up in the Council next Monday in connection with the new plumbing ordinance, and the report of Health Officer Powers. Health Officer Has Asked the Couneil to Investigate-Very Unsatis-Light-Fire Commission Transacts Routine Business

For several months, little has been said in a general way about the con-dition of the sewers in the city. Many dition of the sewers in the city. Many individual complaints about improper ventilation and sewer gas has been registered at the Street Superintend-ent's office, but until the last few days there have been no signs of a general agitation for an improvement in the existing conditions. The well-known fact that the sewers are inadequately flushed, has, however, at last begun to interest alike both citizens and city officials, and the question promises to become a real live issue within the weeks, unless some active measures are at once taken to provide a remedy for the existing evil.

a remedy for the existing evil.

It has been known for a long time that the flush tanks in the city were not giving satisfaction, and were not along proper work, out little thought has been given the matter by the authorities, and the situation has been philosophically taken as one of the necessary evils to which a municipality is heir. Some few officials, among them Health Officer Powers, have riewed the conditions with alarm. The large number of typhoid cases recently reported seemed to indicate that all was not well, and at the Monday session of the Council Dr. Powers presented a communication, calling the attention of the Councilmen to the langer.

The report was brief, and merely eited the fact that the present methods of flushing the sewers were not in accord with good sanitary conditions, and that there was great danger to the welfare of the people from this nource. Dr. Powers has not altered his mind on the point in the least. Yesterday he said:

"I believe that the present state of the sewers, owing to imprisoned gases and inadequate flushing, is a dangerbus menace to the health of the city. The flush tanks were designed to work

"I believe that the present state of the sewers, owing to imprisoned gases and inadequate flushing, is a danger-pus menace to the health of the city. The flush tanks were designed to work automatically, and if they really did so, the water could be left running and the sewers would be flushed several times every day. As it is, a man has to go to each tank every time the sewer is flushed, and as there are not men enough employed to properly attend to the 600 tanks under the present conditions, the sewers are not flushed as they should be. Then in many parts of the city the manholes are hemetically sealed, imprisoning the gases and making it necessary for the foul odors to traverse the sewer until an egress is found. The result of this practice is that wherever an outlet is given, sewer gas makes a decided nuisance. I'wo things are needed: the first is better and more frequent flushing, and the second is more open ventilation." Superintendent Drain of the street lepartment explained to the Council on Monday that one reason why so nuch complaint had been made during the last few days, was that in accountance with the orders of the Council. he had laid off three men employed in flushing the sewers, the 1st inst. ing made by representatives of the dif-ferent companies to have tests made of their samples. The test given the "Keystone" brand of hose did not prove satisfactory, and in the opinion of the commissioners no trial can be given hose that will conclusively prove its merits for standing the wear and

The petition of the Southern California Crematory Society for permission to place a five-horse power boiler in Rosedale Cemetery was granted on the recommendation of the Chief.

The applications of George E. Hart and George W. Olmstead to be appointed firemen were ordered filed.

The Chief reported three alarms of fire for the week. The only one of serious consequence was that at Sixth and Hope, which destroyed the coal and wood yard of W. B. Strother, entailing a loss of $1500.

Amoskeag engine, No. 8, was reported as having been thoroughly overshauled and put back in the service, and Amoskeag engine, No. 3, and Ahrens engine, No. 7, as now undergoing extensive repairs.

department in this particular, because the force at his disposal is not large enough to flush the sewers with the tanks in their present condition and the efforts of the representatives of the Miller and Van Vrankin tanks to keep them in repair, as agreed to at the time these makes were put in, has so far resulted in no betterment of the state of affairs.

"In a half hour's ride from the City Hall," said Superintendent Drain yesterday, "I can take anyone to twenty or thirty tanks that are out of order. It isn't necessary to go out into the country and to the head of blind sewers in order to find them, but they are right on our main streets. The Miller and the Var Vrankin tanks are the worst and give us the greatest trouble. The Walker tanks have always worked well, and there are none of them out of order so far as I know. I have no patience with those who try to plead extenuating circumstances for the other kinds of tanks. The Miller tank is manufactured by a Chicago firm and has never given satisfaction here. The representatives of the corporation putter around and try and fix the apparatus, but it is seldom in any better shape after this process has been gone through with, than before. The Walker tank is manufactured in Los Angeles, the inventor lives here and gives his personal supervision to the tanks that have been put in service, and as a result there has never been any complaint made about them. I believe that when a tank fails to do good service it should come out, and the kind that can stand on its merits given the preference." rented a house, he rented the wear and tear. The matter was referred to the Chief for investigation and report.

The following promotions were reported by the Chief, Martin Brofat, from hoseman on engine No. 8 to permanent fireman, assigned to chemical company No. 4; George W. Bright, from caliman to hoseman assigned to engine No. 3; Carence Rogers, from caliman to hoseman, assigned to engine No. 3; Clarence Rogers, from caliman to ladderman, assigned to engine No. 3; A. H. Moore, from caliman to ladderman, assigned to engine No. 3; F. B. Willetts, from caliman to ladderman, assigned to engine No. 3; W. H. Bryden, from caliman to hoseman, assigned to engine No. 8; W. H. Bryden, from caliman to hoseman, assigned to engine No. 8; permanent fireman, A. J. Springer, transferred from chemical engine No. 4 to chemical engine No. 2.

The resignation of F. B. Smith, a caliman, was accepted. Chief Moore reported that he had dropped from the pay roll of the department the name of George W. Olpherts, against whom a bill for liquors was presented at the last meeting of the commission.

The outfall sewer lining has been giving the authorities a great deal of concern lately, as it has begun to corrode and crumble. Yesterday Engineer Oimsted, accompanied by C. F. Derby and S. O. Wood, went to Inglewood to try a composition belonging to the last-named gentleman, which it is hoped will prove impregnable to sewer gases. The preparation adheres readily to the brick surface of the sewer lining, and should it prove to have the qualities claimed for it, the interior of the sewer may be coated with it at some future time. The material is of a slate color and contains silica and other compounds of sulphur. Three small sections of the lining were treated with the preparation yesterday, and the effect of the gases on the substance will be closely watched. Engineer Oimsted said last night that it would require a long time, possibly three years, to determine the real value of the composition, as that length of time elapsed before the corrosion on the lining of the sewer became evident. The outfall sewer lining has been giv

As a result of the suit brought in the United States Circuit Court vesterday by Amos S. Kimball of New York, United States Deputy Marshal McCul-loch yesterday served some more pa-pers on Mayor Eaton, Treasurer Hart-well, Tax Collector White and the members of the City Council. City Engineer Olmsted has prepared a report on the condition of the flush tanks, suggesting ways in which they could be made more serviceable. It is pointed out that if the siphons can be made to work and some device can be applied so that the sediment in suspension in the water will not clog the pipes and stop the flow, one man could easily do the work for which six are now employed, and bring better results. Edgar T. Wheeler, who was detailed on the work, recommends a circular brass disc with a hole in the center just large enough to allow the proper sized stream of water to pass. The Council will be asked for an allowance of $25 on Monday to test this contrivance. The engineer estimates the cost of put-on Monday to test this contrivance. The engineer estimates the cost of putting the tanks in good condition at $3620. The present cost of flushing is $4880, and under the repaired system the cost is estimated at $762. This estimate, if correct, would mean a saving to the city of $4118.

Engineer Olmsted also indorsed the Walker tank, but said that he did not favor giving the entire field to any one company, lest they should try to take advantage of their favored position. "Some change in the present condition of the sewers is badly needed at the present time," said he, "but the city must be very careful that the changes better and do not injure the system."

One of the great drawbacks to proper flushing is an Insufficient water supply. Superintendent Drain says that when the water is allowed to flow continuously into the tanks, people in the vicinity complain of thumping in the water pipes. This is said to be caused by lack of pressure, and is known as a "water hammer". Owing to the Another Apportionment Today. For the first time since the taxes egan to come in an apportionment of began to come in an apportionment of $10,000 will be made today. Several times an apportionment of $5000 has been declared, but it was not until yesterday that the taxes mounted up to enough to warrant so large an apportionment at one time. The tax collections for the day amounted to about $3200 on real property and $700 on the excess personal-property tax.

On April 14, two years ago, Runels approached her with a proposal to pur-chase her furniture and other lodging materials, which she considered worth W. H. Clark sent in samples of the "Salamander" and other brands of woven and knit hose, which were shown to the commission yesterday. Clark only asked that he be awarded 3000 feet of the contract. This amount of hose he offered to supply the department at 60 and 65 cents per foot, the price depending upon whether the woven or the knit hose was chosen. He sent word to the commission that if he was liable to get the contract for supplying this amount, he would take the very next train from Arizona to Los Angeles. The members of the board smiled blandly at this offer on the part of the agent, and instructed the clerk to forward Mr. Clark a copy of the printed specifications asking for bids.

Deputy District Attorney McComas read transcripts of the docket of the lower court and affidavits from Justice Morgan and Deputy District Attorney Chambers, all showing clearly that Neuman had been familiarized with his privileges in court under charge, and that he was mistaken when he thought otherwise. His counsel, F. W. Allender, Esq., contended that defendant had not, however, been informed of the legal rights at the proper time, and cited the transcript of this testimony to prove his point. But Judge Smith fell back on the affidavits filed by the District Attorney and overruled counsel's motion to set aside the information against Neuman. Allender then interposed a demurrer to the information on multifarious grounds, and the demurrer was sustained on the one ground that it was not properly drawn. The court granted the State opportunity to file a new information, the old one being faulty on account of a stenographer's error in writing the word "attempt" for "intent."

in the matter, although all the workmen about the Courthouse were put under oath to tell of the disposition of all the truck about the building for months past, and it appears that this is the first instance that anything has been disposed of by sale.

Word has been received that the registers, which a telegram from County Clerk Bell just prevented from being dumped into the pulp vats, are now en route to this city. They fill half a freight car. The Supervisors will take no further action until the books arrive, when the expense of their transportation must be considered. It is thought that the sum of $100 will hardly cover costs for Sparks's brilliant idea of getting rid of stuff that he thought had been condemned and was worthless. Unanimous opinion, however, holds that the colored man had no criminal latent in the affair, and was thoughtless rather than anything else.

Constitutionality of the Wright Act

Argued Yesterday.

The suit of Byrne et al. vs. Drain, in-motion of C. L. Batcheller, Esq.

The suit of Byrne et al. vs. Drain, involving the matter of street opening in the City of Los Angeles, was argued by John W. Mitchell, Esq., for plaintiffs, and by City Attorney Haas for the Street Superintendent and submitted.

The forenoon yesterday was spent in hearing the arguments relative to the organization of the Linda Vista irrigation district of San Diego county. Atty.-Gen. Ford brings the suit. The constitutionality of the Wright act, which is irrigation gospel in many parts of California, is involved in the case. The Attorney-General and George Fuller, Esq., argued against the Linda Vista district, while C. C. Wright, Esq., father of the act., and George H. Smith, Esq., and F. W. Stearns, Esq., presented the side of the organization. The case was submitted on briefs. The invalidity of the Wright act was contended on two principal grounds; first. that the law un-Fitzgerald's court yesterday, asking that a certain contract be rescinded and for the recovery of $500. The suit was based on a lot of allegations of fraud and misrepresentations.

The trouble began in April, 1897, and since then there have been seenes here and there over Southern California. To begin with, Miss Burkhart was owner of the furniture and furnishings of a lodging-house at Nos. 413-415, Crescent mitted on briefs. The invalidity of the without the right and in the supreme Court has held that a city can be lawfully included in an irrigation district without the right to petition for its organization. If the Supreme Court should hold that these contentions are correct, it would mean lodging-house at Nos. 413-415, Crescent

ROBINSON'S SCANT ESTATE.

Public Administrator and a Nurse at Law Over the Leavings. A jury was selected in Department Three yesterday morning to try the case of Public Administrator Kellogg, who is administering the estate of the late Edwin Robinson, against Alice Seekatz. This suit is to declare that certain money and personal property held by defendant was given her in trust for the benefit of the heirs of the estate. Robinson died February 11, 1899. A short time before his passing and while in contemplation of death, he gave Mrs. Seekatz $350 in money, and she agreed with him, it is claimed, to deliver the same to his heirs or admin-handed her his business card, which stated that he was a money loaner, and he told her that his business standing was everywhere known to be the best. He then informed her that he was agent for Minnie Runels, who had loaned Christensen the $350 and held his note and mortgage.

Runel's clinching argument, according to the complaint, was that Easton, Eldridge & Co. made loans and held mortgages on lands adjoining the Christensen property in Riverside county, all of which vouched for its value.

Finally, Miss Burkhart concluded to accept the alluring offer, signed a contract, and Runnels carted away the furniture. The note she was to receive, however, she says, was never in her possession.

Some time after the deal was concluded, she felt a hankering to know something more about the Riverside property she was interested in, and sent her father down to take a look at it. But when he returned, it was with a wry mouth. He informed his daughter that the property was up in the Box Springs Mountains, remote from Redlands, and that it was simply a barren, rocky cliff, deeply cut by ravines.

By this time Miss Burkhart was convinced that Runels had fraudulently misrepresented everything to her, and that all his statements were maliciously false. On November 1, 1887, she filed her suit. She also alleged that Christensen was induced by the others to execute the note without consideration.

A motion for non-suit as to defend. Ahrens engine. No. 7, as now undergoing extensive repairs.

A complaint was filed against George Conart, who is employed at the chemical engine-house at Central avenue and Twelfth street. A woman who had rented her house to Conart complained that he had used abusive and profane language in his dealings with her, and had further refused to nay a bill of $13.35 which she held against him. The house in ouestion is situated at No. 1152 East Pico street, and the woman claimed Conart had the use of it from Arrill 17 to September 1. He broke some of the windows and otherwise damaged the property, she stated, and when remonstrated with told her in language more forceful than polite that when he

It is a most noticeable and encouraging feature of this progress of thought among leading men of broad intelligence in the East who have studied the subjects, that they realize that the great national benefits which would come to the people of the whole country from the reclamation and settlement of the arid region, must redound to the benefit of the eastern farmer.

H. Burke, who has given the subject with the high purpose and density of the enterpri ment to act in the matter of storage ment to act in the matter of storage dress before the irrigation congress at Missoula that it only needed a United West to compel study and the state of the interest of the interest of the interest of the interest of the policy; but "in the House of Representatives the friends of the measure were not organised for the fight," and "the Senate voted in favor of the policy; but "in the House of Representatives the friends of the measure were not organised for the fight," and "the Senate transport of the fight," and "the Senate of Congress," but "consideration was merely possponed, and we are now called upon to consult and unite every element interested directly or indirectly in the success of the movement to the end that this great trunsmississippi country may speak as one man in Congress on this subject."

And then Senator Carter went on in this address to show that in the last ten years there had been a complete change of conditions in relation to this subject, and that though ten years ago it was not, as he believed, feasible, it was entirely different today.

Now, ho is more than force an extra session of Congress, or in the success of the movement of the fact that when the success of the movement will never undertake this work at the cost of its treasury, goes withing subject, and that though ten years ago it was not, as he believed, feasible, it was entirely different today.

Now, who is more likely to be a safe guide in this matter? Senator Carter, who has a seat in the Senate, and speaks from knowledge gained there, or Mr. Irish, who is an officer of the revenue service in San Francisco? Whose lead will the people of California follow?

Mr. Irish would have some difficulty in finding an eastern farmer see that the cost of production. The eastern farmer is one conditions.

Mr. Irish would have some difficulty in finding an eastern farmer is one conditions.

Mr. Irish would have some difficulty in finding an eastern farmer is one conditions.

Mr. Irish would have some dif arid or semi-arid State, which included California, and the appropriation failed, as Senator Carter said in his address, only because the friends of the measure were not organized in the House. In fact, no effort had been made to organize then. It will be made in the next session of Congress.

But in the face of these facts, the author of the editorial says further: "Whoever supposes that a measure of this kind is practicable, or that legislation on its behalf must be secured, has not mastered the primitive problems of controlling the forces which may be depended upon to secure legislation at the hands of the National Congress."

They would probably suggest to him a few facts he evidently had not thought of. For instance, that five-sixths of the population of the United States east of the arid region, and they own a five-sixths share of about three-fourths of the entire area of the United States west of the ninety-eighth meridian, including half of California, the same being public land, and they propose to preserve, protect, improve and open it for settlement for those who are ready to swarm out of the eastern hive. They don't quite agree with the self-centered westerner, who imagines he owns the earth in every western State. The people of the East favor the reclamation of this vast arid region because they are the owners of the largest share in it; because it will open up opportunities on a gigantic scale for men from the East, who will go west and selze upon them to create a new empire in arid America, and build up a teening population to make new home markets for our eastern manufacturers. Whoever assumes to-day that the storage of the flood waters in the West is not one that inself up a little nearer to the head of the procession. He has fallen behind. But the unfortunate fact remains that the State-bonding scheme in California seems to be engineered by leaders who are far in the rear of the modern line of thought on this subject and who are determined to promulgate their antiquated theories to aid in getting the State movement under way. Another San Francisco journal, only a few days later, published practically the same afand, indicating the existence of a "literary bureau" somewhere in San Francisco of the State scheme seem to start out with the idea that the first thing necessary to be done is to kill off the national movement. There is not the slightest reason for this, if those interested in the State scheme seem to start out with the idea that the first thing necessary to be done is to kill off the national movement. There is not the slightest reason for this, if those interested in the State would of course retard the natio

Flitting Walter's Departure Post poned for Fifteen Days.

Harry Miller, a night waiter at the Saddlerock restaurant, had planned to go to San Francisco yesterday, but his departure was delayed through the stern interference of the law. John Brink, proprietor of the Saddlerock, was prepared to worry along without Miller's valuable services in the future, but the night cook, Pat Mathews, objected to Miller's sudden departure. The reason for Pat's objection was his affection for a buildog revolver of the value of $2,$ gold standard, coin of the realm. Pat discovered that Miller and the revolver left the restaurant simultaneously, so he swore out a warrant for the flitting waiter on the charge of petty larceny. Miller was found guilty when arraigned in the Police Court yesterday and was given a sentence of $15 or fifteen days. His departure for San Francisco has been postponed accordingly. poned for Fifteen Days

LOS Angeles, Oct. 11, 1899.

MONEY DEARER. The great industrial activity prevailing all over the world has made an active demand for money. The value of money has risen on this account, and the value of securities, which usually do not change much, has shrunken, as the following table, giving values at the close of last year and now, will show:

COST OF CANS. Since this time last year the cost of two and a half to three-pound cans, such as vegetables and fruits are packed in, has risen fully 15 cents per dozen, which must be added to the net cost of canned ROLLED OATS UP. An advance in rolled oats at the East equal to 15 cents per barrel, and 10 cents per case on package goods, is reported from the East, owing to a rise in the price of raw oats.

BUTTER EXPORTS. The exports of butter in August were 5,000,000 pounds greater than in that month last year. This is likely to hold the winter butter market firm.

CANNED SWEET POTATOES. According to reports from Baltimore packers, says the Grocery World, the canned sweet potato, the latest extension in the canning industry, and for some time the object of much doubt, is actually acquiring a prominent place among other staple products of the packing-house. The demand is said to be constantly and rapidly increasing, particularly at home, while the call from foreign markets—those of Germany principally—is gradually growing. At home the western markets have the lead. The experiment was made, it appears, by a Boston packer about five years ago. As indicated above, considerable adverse comment was expressed by various packers, but the experiment was continued, with the result that after many little introductory difficulties, a market was found for the crude product. Little by little it finally began to receive favor, till other packers having become a little in favor with the outlook, took the cue, and finally all became engaged in the enterprise. The first are carefully selected, perfectly boned, then packed closely in the glass with cottonseed oil of the highest excellence, to which are added spices and bay leaves. The bottles are hermetically sealed, and then put in hot water for more than an hour. After cooking they are packed in cases, and are ready for the market. the market.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS. SEPTEMBER BUSINESS. R. G. Dun & Co.'s monthly review of trade conditions for September in Southern California, says:

California, says:

No more convincing proof of the country's prosperity could be found than noting from month to month the record of commercial deaths during the current year. In September the record reached the minimum so far, both in number and liabilities. Distributive trade still of good volume, railroad earnings large, industrial activities undiminished. Demand for iron products continues so great that the capacity of most works is sold far on into next year. Uncertainty in Transvaal occasioned a slight fluctuation in wheat, but in the main prices were strong, with an upward tendency in all product markets.

In our immediate district satisfactory reports of present conditions are almost universal. Barley and bean threshing are on. Barley is weak in all lines. Price on new crop of beans not yet placed. Hay is firm at $9 and $10. Shipment of celery from peatlands is setting in earlier than ever before, and the product is growing too fast and ripening before the producers wish to ship it to eastern markets. There has been such a development in this industry the past two years, it is likely in been such a development in this in-dustry the past two years, it is likely in Orange county to surpass the walnut and orange industries as a money-maker.

The sugar campaign is still keeping things lively at Oxnard and Chino. The Alamitos factory closed, after making a five weeks' run. Sugar percentage of beets is high.

Walnuts are turning out well, crop estimated now 450 carloads. Growers will receive $8.15 per cental for standard soft shells; $7.65 for same grade hard shelled.

ard soft shells; Fr. 65 for same grade hard shelled.

The almond crop is light, but as shortage of French crop has set the price of the foreign nut almost prohibitive to their importation, California must supply American demand. Almonds are jobbing now at 18 cents a pound, about 6 cents higher than normal years.

New crop of olives will be ripe in about two weeks, when picking will begin. Crop in Southern California is small, about that of last year, when picked output was about 2000 barrels. In cured fruits business is brisk, prices a shade higher. Figs are moving in quantities at good values. The raisin season is in full swing, and so great is the demand that packers fear they cannot fill orders. Increased demand for seeded raisins it most marked. The California Growers association makes the following quotations, subject to advance without notice: Muscatel, loose, two crown, 5½ cents; three crown, 6 cents; four crown, 6½ cents.

Wine grapes are bringing $14 to $17 a ton.

Inquiry for canned goods is active.

Packers are busy filling and shipping

zers: All have sold up close to out-

New orange crop looks promising, except in few localities. Some of the latest crop estimates put output as low as 10,000 carloads. Demand for lemons brisk at $3.25 and $3.50 a box.

The oil industry of Southern California was never before aftracting so much attention. The consumptive demand is growing and yield is increasing. One time contract recently made calls for 1000 barrels daily for four years. Capital is seeking investment and California is undeniably coming well to the front as an oil producer. Condition of merchandising is satisfactory and no complaints as to collections. Money is plentiful at reasonable rates.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

LOS ANGELES MARKETS. Los Angeles, Oct. 11, 1899. Poultry is coming in quite equal to the demand. Dealers pay 10 cents for old stock and up to 12 for fat fryers. Geese and ducks fetch 10 cents for good stock, and turkeys 12 cents for small hens up to 14 for fat gobblers. At 10 cents per pound, large, fat hens rise in fancy local creamery, and anything good brings 50 to 60 cents. There is very little doing, light weight or off quality in the market, and what little there is goes slowly at 40 to 50 cents, as to weights and quality. Creamery out of cold storage sells at 50 to 55 cents for all grades. Eastern bricks are 25 cents, and but 23 for common to 25 for fancy.

Beans are reported much firmer at San Francisco. Pinks are firm at the recent decline. An unusual demand is developing for pinks for the eastern market. Limas are very scarce, as the Ventura crop is almost nothing. Old in San Francisco is quoted at $4.40. Old in San Francisco is quoted at $4.40. worth in Ventura $4.25 in quoted prices.

Potatoes are decidedly steady at

The walnut crop is said to be pretty well all sold at eastern account, the growers getting a good price and prompt returns, those who handle the quoted prices. prompt returns, those who handle the crop getting their brokerage and a nice profit besides, and the consumer getting a fine quality of walnuts at about 15 cents per pound.

Lards, both pure and compound, are up 1/4 cent.

SHE ALTERED A CHECK.

MISS "DICK" MAY'S SCHEME FOR RAISING MONEY.

Taught by a Young Man to Erase Signatures, She Attempts to Apply the Knowledge to Pecuniary Advantage-No Complaint.

Miss "Dick" May, a young woman who has heretofore borne a good reputation, has attained unfavorable prominence on account of an alleged attempt on her part to pass a bogus check on one of the city banks. The girl was taken to the Police Station late Tues-day afternoon, and the matter was kept exceedingly quiet by the officers. After being detained for a short time she was allowed to go, as the man most interested in the case showed no incli-was allowed to go, as the man most interested in the case showed no inclination to prosecute her.

It is alleged that Miss May raised a check sent her by Theo. J. Welk, a motorman, from $5 to $200, her motive being to raise a sufficient sum of money with which to leave Los Angeles. The girl claims that she was secretly married some time ago to a young man about town named Dimmit, who recently left this city for Mexico. Dimmit, she says, taught her how to erase signatures with acid, and this knowledge she utilized in altering Welk's check.

Whether or not Miss May was led into the belief that a marriage ceremony was performed between herself and Dimmit, it is said that she found herself in a delicate condition. She wished to leave the city for awhile and thus hide the facts from her friends. Having no money, she decided to attempt to secure funds by utilizing the knowledge she had gained from Dimmit before he left for Mexico.

In order to carry out her plan Miss May wrote to Welk, whom she had known for several years, asking him to send her a check for $5, to which reknown for several years, asking him to send her a check for $5, to which request he promptly compiled. On re-ceiving the check she erased the amount and her own name, making the check payable to Mrs. Lewis, and call-ing for $200. She then posted a letter to Welk, stating that she had lost the ing for $200. She then posted a letter to Welk, stating that she had lost the check and asking him to send her another. This, it is claimed, was an attempt to shield herself from suspicion, in case she succeeded in cashing the raised check.

Last Saturday forenoon, just before the time for the banks to close, Miss May called on Mrs. W. I. Blanchard, whom she had known for several months, requesting the latter to accompany her to the bank and identify her so that she could cash a check. Mrs. Blanchard went with the girl, but they arrived too late, the bank having closed a few minutes before. They then retraced their steps, and on the way home Mrs. Blanchard examined the check. Seeing that it was made payable to Mrs. Lewis instead of Miss May, Mrs. Blanchard became suspicious that all was not right, but the girl example the matter the metitar that the metitar that all was not right, but the girl ex-plained the matter by saying that Mr Welk did not want the bank to know and £16,000 in French coin. "I told her I would not do that, but if she wished, I would take it to the bank on which it was drawn, and would first ascertain from the bank if the check was all right before asking for payment. I requested her at that time, if she knew of anything irregular or crooked about it, to tell me before I went to the bank. She gave me her word of honor that it was all straight, and that her reasons for not going with and that her reasons for not going with me were that the maker of the check did not want his bank to know that he

"I took the check direct to the bank, and asked the cashier if it was o.k. He said that the man's name was good for $200 or $2000, and asked me if I knew any one in the bank. I said I did not know as I did; I was not there to collect the check. I gave him my business card and told him that I had merely called to ascertain if the check was all right.

"The cashier then looked at the check again and said it appeared as though there had been some alteration in the amount. I told him I would leave the check, take his receipt for it, and call the next day, giving them time to look the matter up. He said he would send word to the maker of the check and ascertain the facts in the case.

"I called at the bank again on Tuesday, and they told me the check had been raised from $5 to $200. The detectives had been summoned to the bank, and I assisted them in locating and getting a confession from the young woman. Wishing to save the girl's mother from the distress and pain of a sudden exposure. I told the detectives to go to my residence and I would endeavor to find the girl and induce her to call there.

"I then went to the mother's residence, where I found Miss May, and requested her to call at my house and see my wife. She did so, and, although she at first denied her guilt, she finally confessed to having raised the check. She claimed that she did so under instructions which she had received from Dimmit, with whom she kept company some months ago, and who, she says, is now in Mexico.

"The girl never lived at my house. She lived with her mother and sister, two blocks from my place, and frequently called on my wife. I have known her since the first of last June, and always deemed her to be of irreproachable character."

There were no new developments in the case yesterday. The detectives endeavored to prevail upon Mr. Welk to swear to a complaint a Keating's String of Racers.

T. E. Keating, with a good string of race horses, left Lexington, Ky., yesterday for this city, to take part in the coming fall race meet. In a dispatch to the secretary of the District Agricultural Association No. 6, Mr. Keating stated he had shipped four pacers and four trotters.

The list of pacers is headed by the stallion Anaconda, who holds a mile record of 2:03¼. Anaconda comes to Los Angeles to do battle in the free-for-all pace with Joe Patchen and John R. Gentry. Although Anaconda's record is two and a fraction seconds slower than either of his rivals, his backers think his good condition will land him winner if the battle be a long one. The other pacers are Klatawah, 2:05½, the champion 3-year-old pacer of last year; Direct, 2:05½, and Little Thorne, 2:09¼.

The trotters are: Dione, 2:09¼, entered in the free-for-all trot; Owyhie, 2:11; Venus II., 2:11¼, and Phoebe Childers, 2:15¼. Keating's String of Racers.

DOCTORS REVIVING THE AGITA-TION FOR MORE SEWERS.

Discuss the Subject at a Special Meeting - Hospital Association Ready for Business-More Fur to Fly Over Simonds. &

PASAEDNA, Oct. 11 .- [Regular Correspondence.] The Pasadena Medical Association will meet Friday evening with Drs. Bolton and Janes. The assigned subject is "Digitalin Dosage;" but the medicos will also continue the hospital boom, and some progress will be reported. The doctors are pleased with the way the citizens have taken hold of the movement.

Dr. J. H. McBride has invited the physicians to meet at his house next Tuesday evening, to consider another pressing matter. He desires the physicians to take up the cudgels for sewer extension in this city, particularly on the west side. The need of sewers has been fully recognized for a long time, and over a year area. long time, and over a year ago a special election to vote sewer bonds was suggested. Then the waterworks' bubbles began to boil and the consideration of sewers was postponed till after that matter should have been settled. that matter should have been settled. The municipal ownership movement has been allowed to lag, and the sewer agitation is still further behind. It is believed that if the doctors force the issue, they can present the imperative need of more water and more sewers to the citizens in such a forceful and authoritative way that they will be stirred to action.

At the request of the Medical Association, City Attorney Wright is now drawing an ordinance to prohibit expectoration on the sidewalks and in public vehicles.

The case of Frank Simonds, who was arrested for disturbing a rally in North Pasadena, promises to be a sort of legal circus. He has engaged "Habeas Corpus" Ladd as his attorney and the officers have spoken for the and the officers have spoken for the Assistant District Attorney to press the cause of the people. It is on the cards for Greek to meet Greek in Justice Klamroth's court Thursday, when the antics will begin. Simonds has told Constable Wallis that he shall sue him for false arrest and unnecessary punishment in making it. Wallis de-clares that he has a card up his sleeve. oo, and if it is necessary, it take out a more serious warrant against Simonds, charging him with against Simonds, charging him with resisting an officer. The sanitary district war will be fought over again before the last is heard of this affair. The newest complication in the Hoffman prune case, is a suit of intervention brought by Constable Manahan, seeking to pull the $71 prune money out of the fire for Mrs. Buck.

REDONDO, Oct. 11.—[Regular Correspondence.] The Pacific Coast Steamship Company's steamer Coos Bay collided with the three-masted schooner Jennie Stella, off shore from the control of the con masted schooner Jennie Stella, on shore from this port Tuesday evening. The Jennie Stella was ly-ing at anchor and the steamer was under way. The schooner was loaded with lumber, and was at her mooring waiting for her turn for a berth at the lumber wharf. berth at the lumber wharf. According to the testimony of several witnesses she had lights displayed.

The night was moonless, but clear. The Coos Bay was seen from the wharf. The Coos Bay was seen from the wharf soon after she rounded the point on her course from San Pedro. She had 1500 sacks of barley to discharge at the wharf here, and supposedly was making for the wharf. In turning the curve she struck ahead of the bow of the schooner, making a square hit from the port side. There was a great crash, and the jibboom and bowsprit of the salling vessel were carried away. The steamer, instead of standing by until the result of the collision could be ascertained, proceeded northerly, and was soon out of sight. Capt. Cribs of the Jennie Stella was lying in his berth when the crash came, but was soon on deck, where he gave orders for the clearing away of the wreckage. That was effectually accomplished, and the vessel seems to be lying quite comfortably as viewed from shore today.

One large plece of railing from the Coos Bay is imbedded solidly in the damaged portion of the Jennie Stella, and numerous pieces of wreckage from her were picked up on the beach this morning. Some of the pieces were eight or ten feet long. The Coos Bay was heard from at Ventura. According to the report from there she is not greatly damaged. She was in charge of Capt. Smith. The Coos Bay's action in proceeding on her course without stopping long enough to ascertain the extent of the damage to the vessel with which she had collided seems strange as viewed from this end of the line, but the situation may appear otherwise when the master of the steamer has been given a hearing. One reason given in explanation is that there was a lot of wreckage hanging over the steamer's side, so that she was not in condition to render effective service even should any have been required.

Their Southern California Medica Society in Session.

The annual meeting of the Southern California Homeopathic Medical So-ciety was held yesterday at the West-minster Hotel, delegates being in attendance from the countles of Orange Riverside, San Diego, Santa Barbara, Ventura, San Bernardino and Los Angeles. Dr. S. S. Salisbury, president of the society, delivered his annual address during the morning session. He took the position that all contagious diseases are caused by some specific germ, many of which the bacteriologists have discovered. It is only a question of time until others will be equally as well known, and their inroads on the health will be combated as in smallpox and diphtheria now. He urged physicians to become expansionists in their professions, and its allied sciences. Tuberculosis, he said, is now receiving more attention from Riverside, San Diego, Santa Barba pansionists in their professions, and its allied sciences. Tuberculosis, he said, is now receiving more attention from the medical profession and health authorities than any other disease. In many parts of the country more than 30 per cent. of the deaths result from this malady. In Los Angeles statistics show that one-sixth of the deaths are from this scourge, a large proportion of which belong to other parts of this country. It has been found in many parts of the country, that a large per cent. of the cows in the dairies are suffering with tuberculosis. These should be killed, and the State should bear a part of the loss. This course would remove a constant source of infection.

At the afternoon session a number of carefully prepared papers on medical subjects were read, and each was discussed at length, the Deakers giving their fellow-members the benefit of their experiences in the use of various remedies under various conditions. "Climatology of Southern Callfornia," was the subject presented by Dr. Eliza Beach of Pasadena. Dr. H. R. The attempt which some of the owners of greyhounds in this city propose to make to revive coursing, is not to be made at Agricultural Park, not to be made at Agricultural Park, for the reason that those who control that park have refused to permit coursing there again. This unex-pected refusal has not caused the coursing there again. This unexpected refusal has not caused the abandonment of the plan to have two days of the so-called sport on the 22d and 29th inst. The place where the rabbits are to be chased has not been announced, but those behind the scheme have informed the owners of the dogs to be entered that the announcement will be made Thursday evening, when the drawing for the races will be held. This drawing will be done in the Orpheum Hall, on Main street, where the recent meeting of the dog men was held, at which it was decided to have the races. If no place can be secured which is inclosed in a rabbit-proof fence, the races may be run in some field in the open. The 100 rabbits for the races have been ordered and paid for, an assessment for that purpose having been levied upon the owners of dogs who desire to participate in the game.

DEVILS ALL GONE.

Chinese Luck Begins With the End The Chinese celebration came to an

of the Festival.

The Chinese celebration came to an end at an early hour this morning, when Toy Sing, the god of luck, was cast into the fire and ascended in the form of smoke to his abiding place among the patron saints of the "heathen Chinee." His incineration was attended with some difficulty as determined efforts have been made to steal his terrestial form from its closely-guarded shrine in one corner of the josshouse, it being thought that the possession of the image would bring never-ceasing luck. Other figures of gods and devils were burned, and the food which for several days has stood before the images, was also cast into the fiames.

The Chinese god of rain failed to receive proper propitiation on Tuesday-night, and as a consequence vented his wrath upon his subjects by giving such a downpour as to make impossible the parade which was scheduled for yesterday. It was therefore declared off last night, and the great dragon will repose in peace until some future occasion demands his presence.

"Our yesterday's plans have all been put to flight, for an old rainstorm has

"Our yesterday's plans have all been put to flight, for an old rainstorm has risen in the night," said one of the leading participants in the celebration last night, quoting an old Chinese proverb. "Fair weather offends noproverb. "Fair weather offends no-body, but inopportune rains make men gloomy," continued the sage, "and as a consequence most of our 'boys' have gone home disappointed at not being able to carry out the programme as able to carry out the programme as announced."

Hundreds of Chinamen from various places were in town yesterday to take part with their countrymen in the parade, and the streets of the Chinese quarter were crowded with ranch hands of Mongolian extraction, who were as truly rural in comparison with their city-trained brethren as are the verlest "Reubs" on circus day.
At a late hour last night the alleys and streets of Chinatown were still crowded with curlosity-seeking citizens, who gazed in wonder at the quainty-garbed priests, and listened in awe to the anvil chorus of the imwere being conducted, indifferently and alternately played fan tan and the
